

The Fall Commencement Ceremony
of King University in its 155th year

Bristol, Tennessee

December Tenth, Two Thousand Twenty-Two
10 a.m.

The King University Alma Mater

In the hills of Appalachia,
Pointing to the sky,
Stands, beloved, our Alma Mater
Holding ideals high.

Chorus

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater;
We thy praises sing.
Swell the chorus, all who love her:
Hail, all hail to King!

After college days we'll cherish
Memories of thee,
Treasure ties that ne'er can perish
Formed at old K.C.

Chorus

Hail to thee, our Alma Mater;
We thy praises sing.
Swell the chorus, all who love her:
Hail, all hail to King!

The Academic Regalia

The academic processional reminds us of the rich tradition of academic dress that reaches back to the early days of the oldest universities.

Academic regalia seems to have originated at the universities of Oxford and Cambridge in England more than 600 years ago. It is suspected that at first the robes were worn for warmth in the unheated buildings.

In 1895, an intercollegiate commission drafted a uniform code for the use of academic caps, gowns, and hoods in the United States. Over the years there have been only minor revisions to the code followed by 95 percent of the colleges and universities in America, including King University.

Bachelors wear a black gown with long pointed open sleeves. The master's gown has a long closed sleeve hanging below the elbow. Three bars of velvet on a full sleeve distinguish the doctor's gown. Previously, gowns were of worsted or silk, but today most are made of polyester crepe.

The academic hood is the identifying symbol of the degree. Its length indicates which degree it represents: three feet for the bachelor, three and a half for the master, and four for the doctor. The lining indicates the college or university which awarded the degree. King University hoods are lined in red and blue.

In the early days at Oxford, bachelor hoods were lined with fur. Masters and noblemen often used miniver in winter and silk linings in the summer. Originally, American hoods, which should match the material of the gown, were lined with silk too, but that has given way to synthetic silk, taffeta, and rayon linings.

The color of the velvet band represents the academic discipline. Colors for academic regalia established by the American Council of Education are displayed at King as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities.....	white	Music.....	pink
Commerce, Accountancy, Business.....	drab	Nursing.....	apricot
Economics.....	copper	Oratory (speech).....	silver gray
Education.....	light blue	Philosophy.....	dark blue
Fine Arts.....	brown	Physical Education.....	sage green
Home Economics.....	maroon	Public Administration.....	peacock blue
Journalism.....	crimson	Public Health.....	salmon pink
Law.....	purple	Science.....	golden yellow
Library Science.....	lemon	Social Work.....	citron
Medicine.....	green	Theology.....	scarlet

For all degrees, the mortarboard is the traditional cap. The tassel may be gold for a doctor or may indicate the field of study.

Protocol dictates that if more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree is worn. Two degrees of equal importance can be shown by dividing the velvet between the indicative colors, but the lining can show only one conferring institution. Also, the president and members of the governing body of a college or university may wear doctoral gowns even if they do not hold the degree. However, their hoods may represent only degrees actually held.

Jerry Caldwell '97
President, Bristol Motor Speedway & Dragway
Speaker

In his quarter-century career at Bristol Motor Speedway & Dragway (BMS), King alumnus Jerry Caldwell '97 has consistently inspired others to excellence, invested in our region, and worked to support and serve our community.

Caldwell began as an intern at BMS while studying for his master's degree in Business. Since then, he has helped grow the speedway into one of the largest sporting facilities in the nation, one known for its near-magical transformations into a premier NCAA college football stadium, a world-class dirt racing facility, and country music arena for some of the industry's biggest names.

In 2016, Caldwell helped BMS achieve fame as the home of the Pilot Flying J Battle at Bristol, College Football's Biggest Ever game. The event, which required decades of coordination and planning, featured the University of Tennessee Volunteers and Virginia Tech Hokies meeting halfway between their home stadiums for an epic clash. The game set the NCAA record for the highest single-game attendance, welcoming 156,990 guests.

Under Caldwell's leadership, BMS was also the first sporting facility in the nation to successfully navigate the COVID pandemic, hosting mass vaccinations and also welcoming the 2020 NASCAR All-Star race in front of a socially distanced capacity crowd. That race marked the initial return to mass sporting events and set the standard of safety and excellence for all others to follow.

Caldwell fosters numerous relationships with Fortune 50 companies, including Chevrolet and Coca-Cola, and a 2015 study showed that the speedway bears a direct economic impact on the Tri-Cities region of more than $417 million, annually. BMS bears an estimated indirect impact of more than $1.4 billion, yearly.

For these and other accomplishments, he has twice been named Speedway Motorsports Inc.'s (SMI) Promoter of the Year, and under his guidance Bristol Motor Speedway was named SMI's 2016 Track of the Year.

In his focus on community, Caldwell plays an integral role with the Bristol Chapter of Speedway Children's Charities, a nonprofit 501(c)(3) entity that provides funding for children's-based nonprofits. The organization has contributed more than $18 million to 80 child-advocacy organizations throughout Northeast Tennessee and Southwest Virginia.

A native of Lexington, North Carolina, Caldwell and his wife, Belton, are active members of numerous civic and religious organizations. They are the proud parents of six children ages 2 – 15 and reside in Jonesborough, Tennessee.
